

THOUSANDS THROG AVENUE FOR OPENING STYLE SHOW

PARADE THROUGH CLOSELY PACKED AVENUE

With a crash of sound that startled every one of the thousands gathered on the streets early last night, the Vaco Style Show was opened at 7 o'clock. At the same time, the city and the streets reverberated from every factory in the city, dominated by the Y. M. B. L. steam siren, and taken up by automobiles on the streets and engines of trains entering the city, the curtains dropped from a hundred crystal chandeliers behind which were placed models themselves embraced all figures—the "perfect" thirty-six" slender, stout, and pretty little misses and school age.

Immediately after the last model had been paraded and gone, L. Goldstein, a member of the firm, appeared on the stage at the corner of the balcony, and was heartily applauded by the thousands in place. The notes of the things they had seen. Goldstein disappeared from the stage, the herald played "Taps," informing the crowd that the promenade of the

In beautiful settings all that is not in every wink of merchandise supplied to the citizens of Waco and Waco's trade territory by Waco merchants.

It is estimated that fully twenty thousand people were on the downtown streets last night. After 7 o'clock traffic was barred from Austin street from the city hall square to Eighth street, and the entire avenue opened for one grand promenade, during which the ladies in wearing apparel, housefurnishing and every other conceivable article for human use was inspected by the happy crowds.

There was one of the most unusual occasions that have ever resulted from the united effort of a community. It was stamped with Waco's own individuality, with all the enthusiasm that has made the name of Waco synonymous with the word "show."

Details of the open air style show the first of its kind on record, were planned far in advance of the stage last night, according to J. W. Carlberg, advertising manager of the show, a member of the Y. M. B. L. style show committee. It was not until yesterday's Morning News appeared that the people of the city were in the form of a stampede.

After the Goldstein-Migel store closed yesterday afternoon it was quick work to set the stage for the promenade. The heavy plate glass windows of the large transoms in the above the awning was removed, the cases and shelving were torn out in the store below, and a special stairway already constructed was put in place. The large transoms were passing from the dressing rooms low to the promenade above and down in the open air.

Formation of Parade.

Living Models in Open Air. Persons familiar with similar celebrations in other cities pointed out numerous distinctive features in the celebrations last night, which was the first of the history series show week. The open-air style show, in which living models wearing the new styles promenade on the awning of the Goldstein-Migel store at Sixth and Austin, is thought to be the first of its kind in the history of American merchandising. The thousands who crowded both Austin and Sixth streets from curb to curb during the hour of the promenade, and the hearty applause that greeted the entrance of the models, were the first appearance of the Waco people for the originality of the idea.

An entire street full of people, well dressed and gay, with not a vehicle in sight, is an unusual sight. Mounted police officers, led by one from Mayor Riggs' proclamation, began clearing the avenue at 7 o'clock. Within a few minutes not a vehicle was to be seen along the whole stretch from the Capitol to the Elkhart. The crowd, a neat square will tend to make sanitary conditions more unsatisfactory. Food supply continues scarce with very high prices. The Carranza agency gave out the following:

A group of fifty professors, members of the college of education of the Mexican government will be sent to the United States on a tour of investigation and instruction as to American methods of public school organization next month. The group will be followed by the agronomist government of Mexico who evacuated the national capital many months ago. Their tour through the United States will be extensive and they will stop at Vera Cruz, Mexico, and the line of the Mexican government on September 20. The party will arrive in Boston October 12.

WEATHER

San Antonio, Sept. 20.—Suit to recover $37,000 life insurance in the companies was filed today in the Thirty-seventh district court by Emma Koehler, widow of Otto Koehler, the criminal here who was shot and killed in this city November 12, 1914. Koehler was shot to death in the home of Miss Hedda Buremeier, a trained nurse, who admitted she had been hired by him. He was indicted and later released on a $75000 bail corpus hearing in $7500 bonds which was forfeited when the case was called for trial. She left a note which was read at the hearing that she had gone to Europe to accept service as a war nurse.

Two of the policies contain clause that the amount of insurance must be paid to her within 90 days of date of policy if the insured man died with an accidental death. The widow contends that Koehler died within time specified and that he was not killed by a person unknown to her.

Sheddy, St. George, and Constable Leslie Seagrall, who had been ordered to move promptly at 8 o'clock from the city hall square, where it formed, up Austin, to disband after passing Eighth.

A carnival feature of the celebration was furnished by the search for the Queen of the Style Show. The queen, who was Miss Neilson Gillespie, was crowned by the city.

Immediately following the fire department was the section devoted to the new model automobiles. The Waco dealers. Several makes, each of 1916 model Maxwells, Buicks, Chryslers, Packards, Buicks, Case, Haynes, Knight-Overland, Hupmobiles and Saxons were among the Miss Gillespie with a huge bouquet of roses, the compliments through the Y. M. B. L. of Wolfe, the Florist, and also a beautiful orange bouquet. Miss Gillespie immediately received one of the beautiful flowers on the coat of President Naman, and afterward on each of the Style Show committee. Miss Gillespie as the unknown queen was escorted by her brother, Gardner Gillespie.

Half an hour before the open air Style Show at Goldstein-Migels' was to begin, the Sixth street corner was packed on the balcony formed a solid mass, the awning that extends around the whole frontage of the building on both streets, entering from the Sixth street side, was lowered by the iron side the awning, thrown by a machine placed diagonally across the street, they proceeded to the corner of the balcony, where a special stage with a background of black and white and red and blue light had been suspended, under which the models stood and bowed to the thousands below. From the stage they proceeded to the west end of the balcony and then to the balcony on the Sixth street side. The parade of the models was so arranged that no less than five were on promenade all at times. The entrance of the models was announced by a herald with his trumpet.

Elaborate evening gowns, street and afternoon dresses, tailored suits, coats and hats, and a variety of other thin models, worn by the models, the play will be held on the second floor of the wholesale building, where the promenade rooms is now being decorated and the elevated stage arranged.

Almost every show window on Austin street and adjoining streets was decorated and lighted last night. It is only possible to afford a brief sketch of the displays viewed by the thousands as they wandered up and down Austin last night.

SANGER BROTHERS.

Gasps of admiration and delight were heard on every hand when the curtains at Sanger Brothers were drawn back. A startling background of white and black stripes set off the contents of the long window space in attractive manner, autumn leaves also adding a pleasing touch to the picture.

Gowns and suits of the very latest color and cut array the few wax models. There is just enough in the windows so that each creation attracts full attention from each passerby. A brilliant cerise cloak is one of the beauties, a bizarre jet black evening dress another. The least that can be said is that the entire display is a work of art throughout.

In the extreme east window is a tastefully arranged display of fall and winter footwear, while on the fourth street side, men's clothing for fall and winter reign supreme.

GOLDSTEIN-MIGEL'S.

It was not alone the charming windows at Goldstein-Migel company that drew the crowds last night. Sounds of bugle calls announced that Waco society girls, as living models, were promenading up and down along the roof of the awning, displaying the very latest styles as they will appear in real life.

The entire wardrobe for gentlemen is neatly shown in one window, a bunch of brown fern leaves hanging down from an arched background in the center. Another window contains two figures of women and two of little girls, their garments being of exquisite shade and fashion. Some dainty evening dresses with a large array of accessories and various other articles of wearing apparel are shown.

ADELMAN'S.

The season's latest styles in coat suits, cloaks and street dresses are shown in one window at Adelman's, boys' clothing, shirts and suit cases and traveling bags in the other. Everything is in fine taste and the windows drew many favorable comments from the thousands who passed up and down Austin avenue.

A. C. PATTON'S AND SMART HAT SHOP.

Gray carpets and drapery formed a perfect background for the display at A. C. Patton's. Three figures occupy each window, giving the show an exceptional symmetry. The suits and dresses displayed are among the most attractive and distinctive to be found anywhere up or down the street, and the arrangement is such that every detail is brought forward prominently.

The show case at the entrance contains a beautiful coat of arms, a beautiful green shirt waist, furs being artistically arranged about it. Each of the models wears one of the very latest hats, which form the display of the Smart Hat Shop. All of these show the true artistic touch of the milliner in their makeup.

UNITED SAMPLE SHOE PARLORS.

One of the smallest displays in the style show is that of the United Sample Shoe Parlor, but it is a neat one and drew its full quota of attention from the busy throngs on Austin avenue last night. Just a single show case at the bottom of the stairs, the parlor being upstairs, a large number of the latest styles in shoes are shown, and in an unusually attractive manner.

GOLDING'S.

Did you ever see a black pearl in the hinge of an oyster shell? There is one in Golding's window, it has quite a history, and it drew the gaze of many curious last night. Golding's have a very artistic display. On a low platform are a number of handsome silver candlesticks, while just below them, each at the base of the display, are a pair of shoes, one of which is a pair of orange cases, which bring out their glistening qualities admirably. In the other window are silver and gold mesh bags, cut glass and pieces of silverware, all artistically arranged.

E. E. THOMPSON.

Picture frames and wall paper, the latest dictates of fashion in each, occupy the entire space in the windows of E. E. Thompson, with the exception of a few pictures in the frames, which are well selected. The window containing the display of wall paper is a veritable work of art and would do credit to a city many times the size of Waco.

LEVINSKI'S.

Peacock rings and solid gold and silver friendship links, two of the latest novelties of the jeweler's art, occupy the foreground of one of Levinski's windows. Lavallieres, silver dishes of various shapes and hand-some clocks form the background. In the other window is a collection of beautiful chafing dishes, large silver plates and platters and a display of the bud vases, which are coming to be all the rage. Levinski's windows are truly a "Style Show," of late jewelry novelties.

NAMAN & GOLDSMITH.

Table silver, including a beautiful silver meat plate, carving knife and fork and some of Dr. L. Block's optical supplies fill one of Naman & Goldsmith's windows, but it was the other one that shone as one of the most beautiful exhibits of jewelry ever shown in a Waco show window. For instance, there is a Cloisonne enamel toilet set, three pieces, the three exquisite bits of Texas being the first ever exhibited in blue and selling for $200.

But that was not all. There is diamonds of the purest rare opalescent pearl necklaces, fine watches, bracelets and other wares of similar class. Larger pieces of silver and cut glass are also shown in profusion.

GRAHAM-JARRELL.

A background of blossom-strewn trellises, in the background windows, varied with an arched background in the center display window, frames a handsome and complete display of women's wear at the Graham-Jarrell store. The left window is filled up with a display of afternoon gowns in the latest styles of blue, brown and green. The life-like wax figures are dressed completely, with all the latest fashions in headwear and footwear. Beautiful figured silks are grouped artistically in the foreground.

The central window contains a complete display of the new evening gowns, showing the reigning net and lace styles. Hats for evening wear shown embody the latest accepted styles of trimming. The window at the right shows the winter styles for street wear. Furs for trimming, the latest styles for fur sets, and fur-trimmed suits are shown. The Graham-Jarrell windows are among the handsomest on the avenue.

HILL BROS. & CO.

The display of natural gas heating appliances in the handsome windows of Hill Bros. & Co. on upper Austin elicited many expressions of admiration from the crowds that passed the store last night. The central piece of the display is a fireplace, with the cheerful blaze of a log fire reproduced in natural gas. Other pieces shown are numerous varieties of heaters and appliances. The color and lighting effects in the window are beautifully planned.

ADAMS & ALLCORN.

Grouped in the foreground of the vista afforded by the handsome window of the Adams & Allcorn piano company are the three pieces of the famous Kimball piano handled by the firm. A magnificent concert grand occupies the center, flanked by a player and an upright. Flowers and palms give the effect that is always associated with music. Grouped in the background of the view afforded of the entire store are other handsome instruments contained in the ample stock of this firm.

MILLER-CROSS.

Shoes, shoes, nothing but shoes, and all of them just what fashion has dictated will be shown this year is to be seen in the two attractive windows of the Miller-Cross shoe store. On the one hand is a display of the new hand-made Queen Quality shoes for women, some of the footwear being of unusual height others ordinary height.

and still others fascinating dancing pumps. The other window is full of the latest word in men's shoes, a broad roll of crimson velvet setting them off to the fullest extent.

WACO TRUNK FACTORY.

Latest styles in baggage are shown in the display of the Waco Trunk factory. Handsome wardrobe trunks, steamer trunks, traveling cases with their innumerable toilet requisites, and an array of hand-made traveling bags and suit cases make up the display.

W. T. FARLEY.

Conventional styles in wearing apparel for men and women are shown in the windows of W. T. Farley. The display includes a full range of suits for men, women and children, furnishing goods, footwear, headwear, etc.

OLD CORNER DRUG STORE.

The Old Corner also had its "living model" last night. A young lady sat at a dressing table with nothing more energetic to do than to powder her face with Violet Dulce face powder, the window being devoted to a display of that toilet requisite, potted plants being banked artistically against the pane for smoking pipes and other accessories. One of Waco's best known products occupied the entire window, Circle A. Ginger Ale. "It's style all the while," exclaimed one man as he looked at the array, "I'm thinking of times when the aforesaid ginger ale had come in so handy."

SAM FREUND & CO.

The gentleman of fashion who carries his preferences even to his smoking will find much to satisfy in the display of Sam Freund & Co. The array, including a full range of pipes and tobacco, are shown as well as the refinements, which include humidors for keeping the tobacco in the best of condition, cigar and cigarette holders, smokers' cases, fine cigars, etc.

HAFNER-ANDERSON.

The chaste beauty of cut glass is framed in one of the handsome windows of the Hafner-Anderson jewelry shop. Many shapes and patterns of the beautiful crystal ware are shown. The other window contains a symphony in gold, made up of all manner of jewelry, including a large diamond ring, a bracelet, a necklace, and a brooch. Both windows are set about with vases of roses.

S. H. KRESS & CO.

Kress windows contain seasonal displays of fancy woolen dress materials, hosiery, handkerchiefs, lace, trimmings, scarfs and untrimmed shapes in millinery.

WOOLWORTH'S.

The most interesting window of the four that drew the style show by F. W. Woolworth & Co. is one containing a display of Woolco thread. Thousands of the little spools of all colors are grouped about the central figure, an enormous spool of the same thread. One window contains a timely display of school supplies. Other windows show untrimmed shapes, lace, embroidery, etc.

W. J. MITCHELL'S.

The season's styles in men's wearing apparel are shown in the windows of W. J. Mitchell's store. There are overcoats, suits, shirts, cravats, hats and such other articles as are needed by every well-dressed man. The display is exceedingly well arranged.

SEGALL'S SHOE PARLOR.

Some of the classiest shoes on display anywhere up or down the street are shown in the windows of Segall's Shoe Parlor. The very latest models in shoes, boots and slippers for men, women and children are well displayed.

NORMAN H. SMITH.

A handsome display of filing equipment, with a neat little typewriter to be carried in a folding case occupies one of the windows of Norman H. Smith's store. In the other window is a beautiful arrangement of correspondence paper in various shades, with just a few gift books scattered here and there.

JOE MATTHEWS.

Samplers of the latest fads in goods for men's suitings fill one of Joe Matthews' windows. In the other are shirts, ties, collars and other articles of haberdashery in pleasing ensemble.

FASHION BAZAR.

Four magnificent specimens of the newest in millinery are enthroned in velvet backgrounds in each of the windows of the Fashion Bazar. The correct colors, the correct trimmings, with the restrained use of furs, feathers and flowers are shown. Some of the most advanced styles of the season, shown in windows, attracted last night much favorable comment from feminine visitors.

ROBERTS THE HATTER.

Hats and more hats for men are shown in the windows of Roberts the Hatter. The latest styles and correct shades, shapes and trimmings are well presented in the complete display.

WACO HARDWARE COMPANY.

A breakfast room, complete in furniture, even to the correct set of the table, is shown in one of the windows of the Waco Hardware Co. Handsome china and silverware with the correct napery are shown on the table. The opposite window contains a complete display of dining room culinary utensils—chafing dishes, casseroles, etc.

WALK-OVER BOOT SHOP.

Beautiful footwear is shown in the handsome windows of the Walk-Over Boot Shop. A wide and complete range of the newest styles for both men and women is shown. Of especial interest are the new high boots for women, with the touch of individuality in lacing. Both button and lace styles, both of which will be extensively worn, are shown.

ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

Coffee, teas, spices, sugar, rice and other cereals make up the substantial display of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company. The arrangements of the windows display originality on handling articles not easily lending themselves to handsome display.

SANITARY BAKERY.

To make any bride covetous was the display of the Sanitary Bakery. An immense wedding cake, its turrets rising to a height of two feet, crowned by wedding bells, under which stood bride and groom in dainty confection, was the central figure of

WELL KNOWN FARMER SUFFERED TEN YEARS

OWES RECOVERY TO TANLAC, HE SAYS—IS TELLING FRIENDS ABOUT IT.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 20, 1915.—"Among the recent in-doorers of Tanlac, the remarkable new medicine that is now being introduced with such signal success in Fort Worth, is J. P. Thompson, a well known farmer, who lives about three miles west of Fort Worth on the Benbrook road."

Mr. Thompson, who was in Fort Worth last week, said: "I have suffered from catarrh of the stomach and kidney trouble for, perhaps, ten years. My stomach seemed raw, I did not digest my food and at times I was down in bed with backache. I read the many testimonials of people who had taken Tanlac and talked with some of my neighbors who were taking it, and being convinced of what was said about it, I secured several bottles and have been taking it regularly for some time."

"Tanlac has relieved me of the pain in my back and my stomach seems like it has been made over again. After ten years of trouble I can now eat everything I want one more. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to others, and it has been a wonderful treatment to me and I am telling all my friends about it."

Mr. Thompson has used six bottles of Tanlac, a married man and has lived 45 years in Texas. He is now well and his friends are explained at W. B. Morrison Drug Company's store.

The window given over to fancy pastries, cakes, rolls and cream puffs whose appearance promise ecstatic gastronomic delights are grouped about the central figure, a large cake of crystal and jewels. Vases of flowers are also shown.

ARMSTRONG & PFAEFFLE.

The eye resting upon the windows of the Armstrong & Pfaeffle jewelry shop glimpse first the vista afforded by the length of the store, with its shimmer of crystal and jewels. A captivating display of diamonds in rings and jewels is also shown.

One window presents a chaste design, a salad set, a water set and a breakfast set in sterling, resting in cases of white silk. Tall silver vases hold roses.

HILL PRINTING & STATIONERY COMPANY.

Latest styles in office furniture are shown in one of the windows of the Hill Printing & Stationery company. Filing cabinets and many other labor and trouble saving devices in the display. The display is a timely display of school supplies. Other windows show untrimmed shapes, lace, embroidery, etc.

GROCERY-SO-DIFFERENT.

If anybody who came down town last night thought that nothing but things to wear would be displayed, they were doomed to a surprise. One of the most complimented showings was that of the Grocery-So-Different, where the women's hands made the observer's mouth water.

To one side were boiled hams, fried chickens, salads, and other delicacies, and a beautiful array of bread, pies and cakes baked in the Grocery-So-Different kitchens. Chef F. L. Fields. Huge blocks of

FINDS A CURE FOR PELLAGRA

Harvey, La.—Mrs. S. W. Spruiell, of this place writes: "I suppose it will be a great pleasure to you to know that you cured my child. She had pellagra very bad and the doctor said she never would get well. She is well of pellagra and looks fine."

"You may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. Great benefit have you done my daughter, Mindie Abrams."

There is no longer any doubt that pellagra can be cured. Don't delay until it is too late. It is your duty to consult the resourceful Dr. Baughn.

The symptoms—burning red like sunburn, skin peeling off, sore mouth, the lips, throat and tongue a flaming red, with much mucus and choking; indigestion and nausea, either diarrhoea or constipation.

There is hope, get Baughn's and learn about the remedy for Pellagra that has at last been found. Address American Compounding Co., Box 3045, Jasper, Ala., remembering money is refunded in any case where the remedy fails to cure.—Adv.

PICKING UP THE LOOSE THREADS

That's what folks mostly do on Monday.

The housewife sees what's needed as she goes over the house. If she is very methodical she may make a memorandum.

Or else she'll just remember. When you notice what you need, please remember that we can supply a great many of these needs.

Scaps, tooth paste, toilet water, shaving cream, ink, stationery and the rest of the things one is always getting out of.

If you fix our phone number in your mind, it will save you time when you are in a hurry for something.

ice kept everything looking cool, and the entire display was perfectly protected against flies or dust.

On the other side were cigars, nuts and fruits. Back of each window was an immense Swiss cheese, just received from Europe by Mr. Stubblefield, one weighing 485, the other 502 pounds.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE CO.

Fashions in furniture are well displayed in the ample space behind the plate glass windows of the Household Furniture company on North Sixth street. The complete sets shown include two dining room sets in oak, one mahogany and a mahogany bedroom suit. Behind these pieces the whole lower floor of the store opens a view of every kind of furniture, including gas stoves and ranges.

WOOD BROTHERS.

Built around the well known golden lion in the central show case, Wood Brothers have a display that is unique and attractive. Two green electric lamps on small tables gave an air of the gentleman's dressing room to one window, gloves, cane and cuff buttons being on the lower part of the table. Purple velvet was draped over the background and full dress suit, hat, fancy vests, street suits and cravats, all of the latest styles, completed that portion of the display.

Elegant palms on mahogany stands set off the other window, which contained an alluring display of haberdashery. At the entrance to the store on each side was the model of a small boy, each dressed in a handsome suit with hat to match.

POWERS-KELLY.

"To be in style send her Whitman's" is the motto in the Powers-Kelly show window. The display includes boxes of Whitman's cardials of every size, color and description, making a picture that drew many girls and young women, who gazed wistfully therein.

SNAMAN'S AND MILLINERY EMPORIUM.

Few were the figures in Snaman's windows, but each of them was clad in the very latest mandates of fashion. In one window, a big vase of yellow chrysanthemums furnished a touch of color to a bunch of beautiful red flowers in the other. The display proved one of the most popular on the avenue, the hats and bonnets displayed by the Millinery Emporium, also drawing a large number of favorable comment.

H. NOVICH.

Bird cages with the bird serving the purpose of an electric light globe were one of the features in the Novich windows. The display of potteries of many shades and hues was very attractive and the table china in the opposite window is all of exquisite design.

WHEATLEY & HOLLOWAY.

A window full of the very latest styles of fall and winter hats attracted much attention at Wheatley & Holloway's. "Your choice for three bones," the bones being the regular animal variety was the sign in this window. On the opposite side was a pleasing arrangement of fall shirts with a few other articles of haberdashery.

THOS. GOGGAN BROS.

Everything musical is contained in the windows of Thos. Goggan & Bros. In one window a large music cabinet with a Victrola record rack occupies the center, with violins, horns of various kinds, Victrola records, tambourines and castles on the wall filling the remainder of the space. A handsome piano and piano player are in the other window with music cases, piano stools and scarfs.

W. J. HILL & CO.

Mirrors forming the background of the W. J. Hill & Co. window give their display added beauty. Shirts, dress hats, gloves, ties, hosiery, cravats, neckties and vests are arranged in such a manner that each is brought prominently to the front.

R. T. DENNIS & CO.

With the window display as a foreground, the entire interior of R. T. Dennis & Co.'s store is displayed by the unique arrangement worked out by that establishment's decorators. In each window are handsome chairs, settees and tables with the light full on them, but beyond, under subdued lights the whole first floor is seen, hand-some cloaks, beautiful rugs and all sorts of furniture thus being displayed, which could not be placed in the window without overcrowding. The Dennis corner drew many exclamations of delight from the throngs who visited the Style Show last night.

SACHS SPECIALTY COMPANY.

Autumn leaves, poppies and poinsettias form a vivid background for the display of the Sachs Specialty company. In one window are some beautiful drawn work pieces and some elaborate quilts, while hats, boxes and other specialties occupy the other.

MARKS MILLINERY COMPANY.

Miracles are worked with colors in the Marks Millinery company. One window is a study in black and white, each hat and bonnet being of singular beauty and the entire window forming a charming picture. On the other side, some of the very newest colors which are being used in ladies' hats this year are shown, the hats being arranged so as to carry out the color scheme perfectly. Autumn leaves are used in the decorations, with one beautiful large bouquet in each window.

THE FAMOUS.

Strong lines are shown in the street wear for ladies in one of the windows at the Famous. There is nothing foolish about them, yet they do not look mannish in any respect. The center window shows some of the frivolity of the season, with a low picket fence and arbor, brown and dark red leaf hanging over them, as a background. Hats, cloaks, dress material and gloves are artistically arranged in the remaining window.

WILLIAM CAMERON & CO.

Means by which the interior of the home may be finished according to the latest dictates of the decorator's art are exemplified in the William Cameron Company windows. Floor and wall finishes, with color blocks, and instruments for applying, are shown in one window. The opposite window is taken up with a handsome collection of beautiful designs in wall paper and hangings, and by a display from the picture framing department of the store.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS.

Many strangers were on the streets of Waco yesterday, the Style Show, which begins tonight, being the attraction which brought many of the throngs.

The jury in the Nineteenth district court was excused yesterday until Thursday, at which time the trial of cases will begin.

The will of the late Eugene Trott was filed for probate yesterday in the county court. In the application the value of the estate is given at $25,000. Mrs. Lillian Trott was appointed independent executrix without bond.

An instructed verdict for $238.65 in favor of Max Goodman against the American Central Insurance company was rendered yesterday morning in the county court. Goodman was suing on an insurance policy for damages resulting from the burning of his place of business on the city square some months ago.

Sul Burton, negro, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday by Justice J. F. Padgett, on a charge of criminal assault. His bond was fixed at $300.

Newton Bule Edgington, grocer of Hillsboro, yesterday filed petition of voluntary bankruptcy in the federal district court here. His liabilities were listed at $18,294.64; assets, $21,325.69; exemptions were given as $100.

A petition has been filed in the federal court here asking that C. H. Cox & Co. of Waco, produce dealers, be declared bankrupt. The petitioning creditors were J. C. Hubinger Bros. & Co., New Haven, Conn.; F. J. Schlicher Paper Box company, St. Louis; Van Dyk & Lindsay, New York.

PERSONAL MENTION.

MERITS OF BREWERY SUITS ARE INVOLVED

ARGUMENTS BEGIN ON EXCEPTIONS AND DEMURRERS BEFORE JUDGE PIERSON.

Claim Is That State's Action Should Have Been in a Criminal Suit.

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Sept. 20.—Merits of the suit are involved in some of the exceptions and demurrers in the state's case against seven Texas brewers for forfeiture of charters and for penalties for alleged violation of the anti-trust statute and contributing money to a common fund for the purpose of influencing the result of elections, the argument of which was begun this morning before District Judge William Pierson of Hopkins county, sitting here. The argument will not be concluded until tomorrow afternoon. Judge J. B. Stubbs of Galveston, who made the principal argument on behalf of the defendant brewers, stressed the question of jurisdiction of the court. He argued that the question of forfeiture of charter should have been brought in a suit filed in Travis county or in the county where the defendant company had its headquarters. Argument was made by him that state's action in seeking penalties from the companies for contributing to a fund to influence the result of an election is not maintainable in a civil suit, that it should be brought in a criminal suit.

While admitting that the court had jurisdiction in anti-trust matters, Judge Stubbs held that it was a misjoinder to include all three issues in one case.

The question relative to contributions to the Texas Brewers' association which R. L. Autrey of the Houston Ice & Brewing company, refused to answer when he was a witness, given the testimony before special Commissioner Geasler have not yet been certified by the attorney general's department to District Judge Pierson. It is expected that the certificate will be made tomorrow and it is probable that the hearing will be set down for November 3 at Greenville.

Dallas Schools Open.

Dallas, Sept. 20.—Twenty thousand school children marched to the public schools of Dallas today. Every public school in the city began. The attendance for the first day broke last year's record.

When You Wash Your Hair Don't Use Soap

The best thing to use is just plain mulified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in; about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

The Registry for the Candidates Is Open Again Tonight—

And any of those who failed to register their names can have an opportunity to do so this evening after 7 o'clock. Don't fail to take part in the great $4,000 contest which is proving such a success. Everybody is becoming more or less interested and it will be but a short time until the interest will grow intense.

MISS ELIZABETH BOLINGER FOR MISS STREETER

Miss Elizabeth Bolinger as one of the attendants in prospect for Miss Georgia Streeter has issued invitations in compliment to Miss Streeter. This will be morning bridge on next Monday, in Miss Bolinger's home; 10 o'clock.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE DOWN AT THE HOME

During the past few weeks improvements of a substantial nature have been in progress down at the Home. In this, the dining room has been enlarged; also, the assembly room, where the Sunday Vesper service is held, as well as the semi-annual teas. Improvement has meant enlarged facility as well as comfort for the inmates. While nothing is so far announced, it goes without saying that the annual Thanksgiving Tea at the Home will find completion of summer work and opportunity to see what has been done by way of addition to this home for practical charity.

MRS. FRANK FORMAN FOR THE COTTON PALACE

As chairman of the art committee, Mrs. Frank Forman feels already assured that her exhibit will be up to the standard of former exhibitions. The art department will have three sections; the first, a loan exhibit sent from the east, something arranged by connoisseurs, and which includes really good masters; the second is the amateur prize competitive pieces; the third will be a collection of pictures educational in their tendency. It is furthermore expected to have the loan of special pieces, among them some by Cecilia Beaux, whose work as woman artist has attracted so much attention out at San Francisco. The request will be made that Dr. Frederick Peterson send some of his Chinese art which is a private collection of note all through American art circles.

SEVERAL SPECIAL GUESTS MEET WITH BEAU NOTS

As hostess for the Beau Nots during Saturday afternoon, Miss Hazel Spencer welcomed several by special invitation, they being the Misses Ruth Buchanan, Josephine Foscoe, Ruby McClain, Sallie Cartwright and Lucile Goech. Several incidents among the members were noted, that of welcoming from prolonged absence of Miss Laurine Gay, of bidding au revoir to Miss Vachie Hubby, who is leaving for "the State," and of welcoming home from the western tour, Miss Mildred Smith. The hour found the usual sit, sew and talk. Miss Spencer's luncheon feature introduced the salad. The removal to Houston of Miss Marie Beaumont, the withdrawal for the winter of Miss Margaret Goodman and the departure of Miss Hubby creates vacancies, but no mention is yet made of filling these.

MRS. PERLE EVANS BARBER SHOWN SOCIAL ATTENTION

During the few days in which Mrs. Perle Evans Barber of Houston has been among her old home friends, as the guest of Miss Marie Anderson, she has enjoyed a round of social attention. As guest of Mrs. Virginia Rose, in dinner at the Huac club, Mrs. Barber first renewed old acquaintance. She was present at the Austin avenue church on Friday afternoon, and interested many of the children especially, by some of her inimitable child and negro readings. On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. M. C. H. Park enjoyed Mrs. Barber and extended this enjoyment to Miss Beula Duncan, who was with Mrs. Barber in New York City. Miss Patty Casseday, an old neighbor, Mrs. William Edmond and others. In this the Misses Duncan and Casseday were also contributors to the parlor pleasure of music and readings. Other more personal courtesies have made Mrs. Barber's time well and delightfully consumed.

SUGGESTION FOR 'MRS. DOTSON' AND HER COMMITTEE

As chairman of the Pioneer Period of the Children's Pageant, Mrs. E. M. Dotson is arranging to give the panorama of the makers in Waco history, the men who figured in community life and the women who were prominent socially. Coming across a copy of the old Artesia a dinner mentioned, one given by Mrs. Kate Ross Padgett, now of hallowed memory, and the first white child born in Waco. Why not Mrs. Dotson and her committee reproduce this dinner party, just as it took place in the Padgett home, then corner of Ninth and Austin? The account was this: "Some happy thought always underlies Mrs. Padgett's entertainments, the one of Friday being unusually so. With Senator Richard Coke, the distinguished guest, there were grouped about Mrs. Padgett's bounteous board twenty friends, the early landmarks of Waco's worthy citizens. Many reminiscences were exchanged dating from the marriage of Mrs. Barnard (Miss Ross), whose wedding was the first among the whites in what was then the Indian village of Huaco, and extending so near into the presence as the pretty spring posies which lay at each plate. The Barnard wedding feast was prepared from provisions brought by pack train from Houston, seventy days being consumed in the trip. (Description of the Padgett tables is omitted.) Those around the table were Senator and Mrs. Richard Coke, Colonel and Mrs. M. D. G. Herrington, Major and Mrs. Wiley Jones, Dr. and Mrs. B. H. Carroll, Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Burleson, Dr. and Mrs. D. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Burney, Mrs. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones."

amiss to suggest a few ideas along which the body as a whole may broaden. The work so far done by these earnest mothers and teachers has been praiseworthy and the children throughout the city are more comfortable and happier in their school life. But while the local details are progressing, there is a higher mission for the Parent-Teachers' clubs. First of all, how many mothers enrolled were informed as to the progress of the bill for compulsory education? This hung in the balance many times. The energy and the unanimous pressure of Parent-Teachers' clubs all over Texas was enlisted. We heard nothing of response from the Waco clubs. Now, the pure food inspector is available. Pure food cases are in our local courts. How many mothers are watching and Mothers of Waco, there is a higher work for you, that of protecting school conditions generally. At the same time, you can pursue your local work. Right now, how many of you are inquiring of your teachers and principals as to children in the district who can not attend school for lack of clothes and books? Are you searching for these, providing for their attendance at school? No. This paragraph is desultory, but it is intended to arouse your thought to the possibilities in a broader line than the actual needs of the special school which your child attends. Think about this. Be vigilant over school in general as well as a sower your special ward.

A man who stands on a corner and harangues a crowd has long been called a "stump speaker." A woman who does the same is now dominated a "soap box campaigner." A mere segregation of the sexes, don't you think? Why cannot the woman be called a "stump speaker," too? Because this would be invading man's political rights. So the line must be drawn between the "stump" and the "soap box." Distinction without difference, don't you say?

Just twenty years ago "Artesia," then the arbiter of affairs social for Waco, made mention of the Fashion Bazaar fall opening, just as is being

The note of interest therein was, "Mrs. George Clark was the first purchaser, her choice falling upon an exquisite design followed in a jet spangled chiffon trim, flaring above a velvet bandeau studded with brilliants. The brilliant also nestled on the crown, touched by the ostrich flukes which rose above it. A slight tilt in the back was marked by jet frosted roses."

COLLEGES AND HOME MAKING.

Southern Methodist University, Dallas, is the first of the large denominational colleges of this section, according to our information, to create a special department for the training of young women to become efficient wives and housekeepers, and our congratulations go to that institution upon this achievement. The making of homes is the primal office of women and those institutions which furnish them with the largest possible equipment for discharging that important function are rendering a distinctly useful service.

An announcement from the head of this department reads in part:

"The department of household science and arts offers training in the application of art and science to all the activities of the household." Questions relating to the problem of feeding, clothing and sheltering the family will be studied in great detail in this department, along with plans for securing the greatest mental and physical efficiency in the development of the children and in all members of the family. The fundamental sciences, such as anatomy, physics, chemistry and bacteriology are emphasized, since domestic science is built upon these as a basis, but these are not the only subjects covered. The ethical and wider social relations of the home will be given constant attention, while the general culture subjects offered in a liberal university training are included in the special course for prospective housewives.

There is a lot of valuable information to be obtained in a course especially designed for the young women who intend to follow the making of homes as their life work, but this is just as much of useful and general culture in this course as in any other. Latin and Greek and higher mathematics and philosophy all have their place in education and a program of general culture but these should not be studied exclusively to the neglect of those things which equip women for their duties as the makers of homes. Southern Methodist University is doing a good work in emphasizing this phase of woman's education and we hope other Christian colleges will follow her example, for it is as necessary to our home-makers shall not lose sight of the Christian ideal in their education and character formation as that our laymen shall attend church schools and our preachers receive their training in theological seminaries.

According to latest advices from Paris the French people are no longer making any effort to preserve neutrality. A bill has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies forbidding any foreigners to possess realty near the frontier or near a fortified place, and prohibiting the possession by anybody of German or Austrian origin of any realty whatever in French territory. The proposed law would further prohibit the exercise of managing authority in financial, industrial or commercial companies by foreigners. Nobody of German or Austro-German origin would be permitted to possess bank or corporate shares. Six months would be allowed such persons in France to rid themselves of these shares under penalty of confiscation. Attempts to evade the law would be punished by fine and imprisonment. The bill also proposes to impose a tax on all foreigners residing in France, these taxes to be increased tenfold in the case of persons of German or Austro-German origin.

RUSSIA'S INTERNAL PROBLEM.

Russia faces a problem more serious than the Teutonic invasion and the action of the cabinet in proroguing the duma will doubtless serve to bring that problem to a crisis more readily than it would have come otherwise. It is true that Russia has her hands full in trying to take care of her interests in the big war, and there may be some who feel that it is unpatriotic on the part of the progressive and liberal factions in the duma to press their claims for recognition at this time.

But there's a reason. Russia is opposed to the progress of the masses. She deems the principal function of her subjects to be that of paying taxes to keep the governmental machinery in operation. She confers no privileges except those which are wrested from her by force, physical or political or moral. Knowing that the reforms for which they are striving are essential to the welfare of the whole people, and that these reforms can be secured now only by pressing them when the government is not in so favorable a position to deny them, the liberals resorted to that plan which promised them the largest measure of success.

It is inconceivable that in a country that pretends to call itself great there should be serious opposition to such a reasonable program of reform as that proposed in the duma and which has been viewed with such alarm by the imperial cabinet as to justify it in proroguing the law-making body, a course that has the full approval of the emperor.

The program, considered so untimely by the cabinet, included autonomy for Poland, a conciliatory policy for Finland, amnesty for political and religious offenses not of a criminal character, complete cessation of religious persecution, removal of restrictions upon Jews and the recognition of the legality of trade unions.

The program also called for an agreement between the government and the duma regarding the rapid adoption of bills for the national defense and the care of the wounded, and included numerous measures for internal reform.

The fact that Russia has kept her subjects in ignorance and serfdom indicates at once the source of Russia's weakness—or the greatest of those sources if there be more than one—in her contest with the Teutons. Her subjects having been kept in enforced ignorance they could not develop that efficiency on the battlefield, in the factory, or anywhere else that men are called upon to serve their country, that has marked the men who march under the flag of Germany. Oppressed by their government, Russian subjects can not feel the same loyalty to their country, the same enthusiasm for its cause which characterize the men who follow the cause of the Kaiser.

Sooner or later, autonomy for Poland and a conciliatory policy for Finland will come, and to these reforms must be added the amnesty for political and religious offenses not of a criminal character, the removal of restrictions upon Jews, recognition of the legality of trade unions and the numerous other progressive measures demanded by the liberal and radical elements of the Russian duma. We hope some of these measures will be guaranteed in the terms that mark the close of the war, but if not, then we are confident the war will teach Russia such a lesson as will be instrumental in forcing the government to grant these concessions in the near future. And if the great war shall bring about the liberation of Russia's millions it will not have been entirely in vain, though this was not the end sought when Europe was suddenly thrown into a gigantic vortex of strife.

A man slept uninterruptedly for 84 hours in Temple. That city may now lay claim to being the best sleeping resort in Texas.

One encouraging feature about the landing of South Carolina in the dry column is that it will tend to preclude the production of such monstrosities as Cole Blease.

Fort Worth having failed in its efforts to secure Billy Sunday for a revival meeting, the Star-Telegram of that city proposes that the negro evangelist, Sin-Killer Griffin, be taken instead on the ground that he is a Texas product. But we wish to remind our contemporary that Sin-Killer has held several meetings in Fort Worth and the city is still unsaved.

We are wondering what Congressman Jeff McElmore will do in December when that trans-continental suffrage march swoops down on the national congress, bearing a petition over three miles long and with more than 500,000 names of American women attached. Several thousand pretty women will make up the procession and we have a suspicion that the debonair statesman from Houston will not only become converted to the cause but that he will change his whole attitude toward womankind.

ARCHIBALD TELLS OF DUMBA LETTER

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENT DECLARES THERE WAS NO SEMBLANCE OF SECRECY.

THOUGHT NOTE ABOUT WORK

Traveler Had Letter to Show That He Was Friend Toward the Germans.

New York, Sept. 20.—James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent who carried a message from Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Washington, addressed to Baron von Burian, Austrian foreign minister, which led to a request from the United States for the ambassador's recall, issued a statement here tonight in which he denied that he had connived in any way to break the neutrality laws of the United States or was an official dispatch bearer.

The request for Dr. Dumba's recall was made after the ambassador's letter was seized by British authorities when Archibald was intercepted at Falmouth.

On his return here today aboard the steamship Rotterdam, Archibald declined to discuss the affair until he had consulted his lawyer and had explained himself to the press.

"I did not consciously break either the spirit or the letter of my passport or of any law, but merely did what every traveler crossing the ocean does by carrying notes or small packages as I did when I returned from Germany last year, when I carried several letters and official dispatches to our state department from Ambassador Gerard and packages for Mrs. Gerard and others."

Archibald stated that before leaving for belligerent territory "to do field work with armies engaged in the war" he sought letters of introduction and recommendation. These letters, most of which were written in German, he said, were delivered to him at his hotel in New York.

"Feeling that there might be a strong anti-American sentiment in Germany," Archibald declared, "and not knowing to what extent that might inconvenience those traveling with me, I asked Prince Hatzfeldt to prepare me an open letter stating that I was friendly to their cause."

He said he intended using the letter "only in the event we were subjected to any local hostile demonstration."

Secret service men who interviewed him aboard the Rotterdam at quarantine, according to Archibald, merely asked if he had been presented with a gold headed cane or had been asked to deliver a cane to any one in Europe before his departure. Upon his assurance, he said, that he had not, the officers asked no further questions.

Dr. Torbett of Marlin Back from Atlantic City Convention

Special to the Morning News.
Marlin, Sept. 20.—Dr. J. W. Torbett returned Sunday morning from Atlantic City, N. J., where he delivered the presidential address before the American Electro-Therapeutic association at its twenty-fifth annual meeting, his subject being "The Doctor's Duties and Influence as a Leader of His People." Dr. J. D. Gibson of Denver was elected to succeed Dr. Torbett as president of the association. The larger subscriptions reported during the meeting was $1000 from the Blaylock Publishing company. This was divided evenly between the teams of Division D. Other large contributions announced were the Coca-Cola company, $500; Mrs. Mahoney, $350; Mrs. F. A. Danover, $250; and J. S. and M. V. Mabry, $250.

Sunday School Workers to Bryan.

Special to the Morning News.
Marlin, Sept. 20.—A number of Marlin people left early today for Bryan to attend the Marlin and Navasota district Sunday school institute, where a number of Sunday school workers are to make addresses today and Tuesday. The following took the trip, going via the auto route: Fred Gliss, Luther Barrow, Mrs. M. G. Gannell, Mrs. Arthur Threadgill, Misses Vera Wiley, Onie Reed, Leona Holston, Flossie Connolly, Myrtle Powell and Rev. H. M. Whaling.

Five Mexicans Killed in Wreck.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 20.—Five Mexicans were killed and eleven injured today in a head-on collision between a passenger train and a locomotive on the Coahuila and Pacific railway, five miles west of Saltillo.

Ten American refugees arrived here from Mexico today. They report quiet prevails in the vicinity of Monterey. Sixteen hundred pounds of rifle ammunition and nearly two hundred rifles were sent across the line here today for the Carranza garrison in Nuevo Laredo.

Special to the Morning News.
Sunbeams' Pictures Taken.
Marlin, Sept. 20.—At noon today on the school house grounds, Mrs. W. R. Nettles, teacher of the Sunbeam Band of children of the Baptist Sunday school, had the pictures taken of the little ones, numbering in all 150. The photo will be sent the Baptist Standard for publication.

Falls Co. Medics Meet.
Special to the Morning News.
Marlin, Sept. 20.—The Falls County Medical association meets tonight with Dr. R. R. White of Temple, and Dr. Richard of Cameron, as leaders in the discussion of "Cancer." Dr. S. D. Whitten presided at this meeting.

Wacoans at Marlin.
Special to the Morning News.
Marlin, Sept. 20.—The following Waco people are registered at the hotels of this city: H. J. White, Miss Rosie Smith, Miss Amy Smith.

SOUTH AMERICA HAS PHENOMENON

Spot Among Clouds in Andes Mountains Compared to Vitalitas Deposit.

Among the clouds in the Andes mountains of South America is one spot that may be the closest approach to the Vitalitas phenomenon found in Texas. One must travel out of Valparaiso on a narrow gauge railroad up dizzy heights to get to the Andean war. There the medicated waters burst out of a mountain side that are to curial in curative properties those of Carlsbad, Bath or Hot Springs. Thousands are constantly making the tortuous journey to them in the hopes of regaining lost health.

Medicinal waters have but faint traces of the curative properties and forces found within the earth. In the Texas Vitalitas stratum some of the most beneficial of these exist in full strength and so blended as to make the most effective natural medicine known. The properties and forces are extracted naturally pure in liquid form, and constitutes what is now so widely known as Vitalitas. Cures of chronic disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood, even where all else has failed, are constantly reported from the use of Vitalitas. It is Nature's greatest corrective and tonic and a child or delicate invalid may take it properly diluted. The adult takes a teaspoonful in a half glass of water, either hot or cold.

You can get Vitalitas at Powers-Kelly Drug Co. For sale by druggists.

Apolonio Rodriguez at Last in Hands of Texas Authorities

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 20.—Apolonio Rodriguez, a former captain in Victoriano Huerta's Mexican army, was lodged in jail here today by Texas rangers on a charge of stealing thirteen horses from Clemente Vergara, a Texas ranchman, in February, 1914. This case, in which Vergara lost his life, caused much interest at the time.

Vergara, it is alleged, was enticed by Mexicans to an inland in the Rio Grande on February 12, 1914, by the statement that he would receive payment for thirteen horses stolen from his Texas ranch. Vergara was kidnapped when he reached the island and later killed and buried on Mexican soil.

When Apolonio Rodriguez, a Huerta captain at Nuevo Laredo at the time, was charged with the crime by Texas authorities, but despite their efforts his arrest was never secured on Mexican soil.

Battle Over Will at Houston.

Houston, Sept. 20.—The legal battle over the estate of Francis A. Ogden, eccentric millionaire who died here June 6, 1914, will begin Tuesday in probate court. Two wills are in existence, both being fought by the heirs of Ogden, who live in Wisconsin and Michigan.

The will filed by Miss Maud Holt of Mebane, N. C., will probably go to trial first. By this will Ogden leaves one-tenth of the estate to Miss Holt.

Another will, held by Mrs. M. L. Sellers of Cairo, Ga., and several of her relatives will be called. They claim the estate by an alleged will executed by Ogden to Love Harper, who died years ago.

Thomas S. Earl, a Houston printer, who committed suicide after his alleged will of Ogden was turned down by the court, claimed the estate by a will written in block letters.

Dallas, Sept. 20.—The $3000 as a result of the morning's work was reported by the divisions engaged in raising the $200,000 dormitory fund for the Southern Methodist university at the annual meeting here. Among the larger subscriptions reported during the meeting was $1000 from the Blaylock Publishing company. This was divided evenly between the teams of Division D. Other large contributions announced were the Coca-Cola company, $500; Mrs. Mahoney, $350; Mrs. F. A. Danover, $250; and J. S. and M. V. Mabry, $250.

SEVEN YEAR ITCH COVERED BODY

Broke Out In Small Pimples. Could Not Sleep. Would Itch and Burn All Night.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I broke out with a rash which at first I thought was prickly heat, and tried to heal it with a home remedy, but it kept getting worse. It was called seven-year itch. It resembled chicken pox, broke out in small pimples. After a while the pimples and gradually my whole body was covered even to my hair. Soon I was a mass of eruptions. I got so bad I could not sleep. It would itch and burn all night."

"One day I saw an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them. They immediately relieved the itching sensation, and in two months I was well." (Signed) Phillip Kunz, Co. M, 22d Inf., Texas City, Tex., March 22, 1915.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS GET IN FULL DAY'S WORK

LITTLE TIME LOST IN ENROLLING AND CLASSIFYING AS HAS BEEN CUSTOM.

SLIGHT INCREASE IS SHOWN

Jewish Holiday Last Year Held Down First Records, But Still is Larger This Year.

Due to the fact that practically all the work of enrolling and classifying pupils of the Waco public schools was done last Thursday, little time was lost yesterday in these preliminaries and a day's work of actual teaching was done at every school.

Up to last year the first Monday of school was consumed in giving out book lists and classifying. Last year the departure of doing this the Thursday preceding was tried. Owing to it being an innovation and given small publicity only about half of the pupils reported. This year, however, the great majority of pupils attended Thursday.

At the high school especially was the work of the teachers and Principal E. T. Genheimer facilitated.

As was predicted there was a considerable increase over Thursday's enrollment when all pupils reported yesterday. The total white and negro enrollment, which includes the orphanage school yesterday was 5,327. That of Thursday was 4,856. There was an increase yesterday over the first day of school last year of 242, last year's first day attendance being 2,085. However the first day of school last year was a Jewish holiday and the Jewish children did not enroll until the day following. This leaves a small margin of increase over last year.

The increase of negro pupils was greater in proportion than of the whites.

Following is the enrollment by the schools and a comparison of each with the enrollment the first day of school last year.

WANT ROADS FORCED TO SUBMIT DATA

ATTORNEY GRAY WOULD SECURE INFORMATION OF DISCONTINUE THE HEARING.

A. H. Oelkers, Mechanical Engineer of Sunset Central Lines Placed on the Stand.

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Sept. 20.—Following the closing of the submitting of testimony by the railroad commission lawyers in the advance freight rate hearing, Attorney Gray today made the motion that to have the commission either to force the railroads to submit certain data already asked for by the commission or discontinue the hearing. The motion was taken under advisement by the commission. In concluding the testimony, Sam H. Cowan of commission's counsel, read extracts from testimony of R. A. Thompson before the Interstate Commerce commission which treated of the valuation of railroads.

A. H. Oelkers, mechanical engineer of the Sunset Central lines, was placed on the stand by the railroads in an effort to rebut the testimony of R. Emerson, engineer-in-chief for the commission.

The witness testified that he was a graduate of Purdue university, a holder of the degree of mechanical engineer, and that he had held his present position with the Sunset Central lines since January, 1912. He first entered the service of this carrier in 1902. After being questioned, he pointed out what in his opinion were the essential parts of a locomotive and testified that many of them were short lived, but that they were capable of renewal. He did not believe that there was any such thing as an average life of a locomotive.

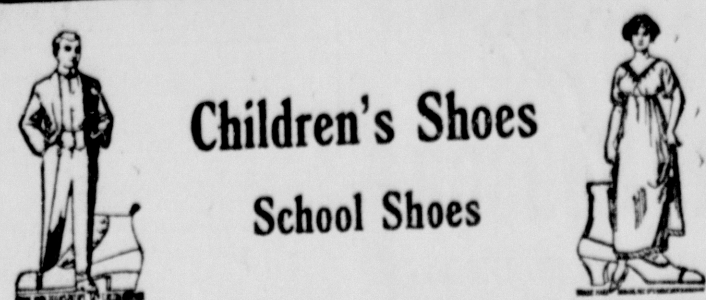

R. D. Parker, engineer for the railroad commission, left today for Oklahoma City where he will appear before the Oklahoma corporation commission, which is now hearing the two-cent rate case. Mr. Parker will testify in regard to the valuation of the railroads as introduced in the Texas commission hearing now going on.

Ferguson Back at Desk.

Special to the Morning News.
Austin, Sept. 20.—Governor Ferguson is back at his desk today, after an absence of several days, during which he visited the state prison farms and negotiated the purchase of additional lands for the prison system involving a $350,000 deal. This will give employment to not less than 700 convicts out of about 1000 now idle. The governor is pleased with the deal.

3,000,000 Bales, Texas Crop.
Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Sept. 20.—Texas 1915 cotton crop will not exceed 3,000,000 bales, according to announcement made today by Commissioner of Agriculture Fred W. Davis. This estimate, he said, was made after receiving many reports from the cotton producing counties of the state and also after a personal inspection.

HORSES OF COUNTY TO HAVE SPECIAL DAY

ALL RACES AT COTTON PALACE
NOV. 17 FOR McLENNAN ANI-MALS ONLY.

GERMAN DAY IS NOVEMBER 17

Officers and Men of Battleship Texas
Will Be Invited to Visit the Exposition.

McLennan county race horses will have a day all their own at the Cotton Palace this fall, as the result of action taken by the directors at their regular weekly meeting last night, and this day was set for Thursday, November 17. To encourage the entry of the race horses of this county, four extra races were provided for, with a purse of $150 for each race. This, in the opinion of the stock raisers interested in the matter and who are co-operating with the directors of the Cotton Palace, will be sufficient to induce the entry of the best horses in the county.

The decision was reached as a solution of the difficulty presented by the fact that the horses of this county can not qualify in the races with the professional horses, which will make up the regular six-day program of racing at the Cotton Palace. The exposition wants to bring the professional horses from over this state and other states, and at the same time it wants to encourage the entry of home horses. In view of the fact that confusion would result from having local non-professional horses in with foreign professional horses, the separate day and separate purses were agreed upon. To perfect details for this special day, the livestock committee of the Cotton Palace directors was named, the committee to be assisted by T. N. McMullen and Cecil Shear, practical horsemen of this county, who attended the meeting and discussed the general proposition before the directors.

Robert Nickels of Mart, manager of the racing features at the Cotton Palace, who has just returned from Paris and has not had time to present a complete and detailed list of his entries in the regular list of race horses, the entries coming from Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. He thinks the race meet will be a successful one and upon his recommendation and that of E. F. Carroll, chairman of the committee from the directors having the race meet in charge, the racing program as published was allowed to stand, with the exception that the purses on the original program for McLennan county horses were transferred from that program and added to that for the special one for McLennan county.

Thursday, November 17, was also set apart as German day in response to a petition from a committee from the German citizens and organizations of this county, consisting of E. C. Wosniak and Dr. A. F. Sonntag. Germans from many parts of the state are expected on that day and characteristic German ideas will be given in the Coliseum early that night, followed by a general dance in the Coliseum later in the evening. The German alliance of Texas will hold its annual convention in Waco on the day preceding and it is expected all the delegates to that convention will remain over a day for the celebration at the Cotton Palace. The Cotton Palace has been assisted in welcoming and entertaining the Germans on both days.

An effort was made by W. V. Crawford to have the officers of the battleship Texas and as many of the men on board the ship as possible visit the Cotton Palace on some day suitable to their convenience. It was learned from a letter from a young sailor on board the battleship that the Texas would be in the New York navy yard from October 15 to 30, after which it will come to New Orleans and Galveston to remain until December 15. This ought to afford ample time for the officers to visit Waco and the Cotton Palace, and as this city through the Y. M. C. B. L. took the initiative in purchasing the new silver service for the Texas, it is believed the officers and men entertain a very friendly feeling for Waco. Mr. Crawford was instructed to take the matter up with Secretary of the Navy Daniels in an effort to secure permission for the men to visit Waco during the exposition.

Season tickets for the Cotton Palace will be handled just as they were last year and the definite date on which they will be placed on sale will be agreed upon next Monday night and announced in the Morning News a week from today.

In order to prevent the possible spread of infection from any kind among the live stock exhibited at the Cotton Palace this season, the live stock committee was instructed to look into the matter of needed precautions to be taken and report at the meeting next Monday night. It is likely that all swine and cows may be vaccinated against contagious diseases, the expense of the vaccination and the work to be borne by the exposition.

W. V. Crawford reported on his conference with the Bohemians in reference to a program for Bohemian Day, Tuesday, November 16, and his action in that matter was ratified, as was his work in connection with public servants' day when it is expected to procure the attendance of a number of the most prominent men of the state for that address. Every public official of the state, along with every ex-official and candidate for public office will be invited to come to the Cotton Palace that day, and a large attendance is anticipated.

Baylor Enrollment Is More Than 400 on Opening Day

With prospects for the enrollment being 1400, the fall term at Baylor formally began yesterday morning. In order to assist students in preparing properly classified and in facilitating the work of the faculty in handling the new people, the Y. M. C. A. and W. C. A. both student organizations, established information bureaus. More than 400 enrolled yesterday. But 370 were listed on the first day last year. Including the summer school, the 1914-15 season showed a total of 1209. According to the increase this year in the summer school over last, it is thought 1400 is not too high to place the estimate for 1915-16. Classification and registration will continue today. The student body will meet in Carroll chapel Wednesday morning and opening address will be made.

President S. P. Brooks led short exercises yesterday in the chapel. Dr. McGarrity of Belton led in prayer. Announcements concerning courses and other information were made.

Investment Bankers Oppose Government Lease Power Sites

Denver, Sept. 20.—Disapproval of the Ferris bill as passed by the house and reported by the senate committee, providing for government lease and regulation of waterpower sites on public lands in the west, was contained in a resolution adopted here today by the convention of the Investment Bankers' association of America.

The report of the committee also reviewed the advantages arising from the study and publication of decisions of public utilities commissions and the advantages of "extending the scope of savings banks laws so as to make public utilities bonds more generally available for savings bank investments."

L. B. Franklin of New York, chairman of the committee on railroad bonds and equipment presented a preliminary report dealing largely with the subject of railroad mortgages, recommending the repayment of railroad debts in full or in part out of earnings and urging the association to make a plea before the interstate commerce commission for recognition of this principle.

John E. Blunt Jr. of Chicago attributed the present troubles of railroads to bad financing and failure to receive authority to increase rates sufficiently to meet the increased cost of service.

Remedies Mr. Blunt suggested provision of sinking funds for the payment of mortgages in full and some means of caring for bondholders during the life of the bond, "either by enlarging the power of the trustee or possibly by giving the bonds voting power and a voice in the management of the road."

In concluding his report the committee cautioned the investment bankers against placing bonds on sale before the mortgage securing the issue is executed.

Gene Madden of the Galveston Pirates Goes to Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20.—The Pittsburgh National league club announced today that Outfielder Eugene Madden of Galveston had been obtained in the draft held at Cincinnati last week.

Labor in Colorado Commends Walsh's Committee Report

Denver, Colo., Sept. 20.—A telegram commending the work of the federal industrial relations commission, with particular reference to its investigation and report on the Colorado coal strike, was sent to Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, chairman of the commission, by the opening session of the annual meeting here today.

Another telegram also was sent to John R. Lawson at Trinidad, pledging the support of organized labor in Colorado to him in his fight for freedom.

Lawson was convicted on a charge of murder growing out of disorders in connection with the coal strike and now is in jail at Trinidad.

Dallas School Boys to Become Cadets

Dallas, Sept. 20.—Students of Dallas Central High School today exhibited considerable enthusiasm over the recently announced plan of military instruction at public schools. The opening today of the school more than 200 first and second year boys entered for military training.

A number of Dallas fathers talked with Commandant C. J. Kennerly, a West Point graduate, about the new plan. Out of 1000 boys in the Central High School today at least two battalions of cadets, it is believed, will be formed.

The plan originated over the much-discussed "preparedness for war."

George L. Davis Takes the Stand

Kansas City, Sept. 20.—George L. Davis, former counsel and one time secretary of the defunct American Union Trust company, took the stand today in the trial in the federal court here in which Davis with W. L. Moyer and John W. Berry, also officials of the defunct company, are defendants charged with using the mails to defraud.

Davis was the first defendant to take the stand in his own behalf. He gave a history of the trust company from its inception to the time its doors were closed.

C. W. Bartlett, a former state bank examiner and government witness, was called on today as a character witness for Berry. The defense completed its evidence late today. Arguments before the jury will be heard when court convenes tomorrow. It is thought the case will go to the jury early in the afternoon.

What Every Mother Knows.

Every Mother knows that during the trying period before baby comes the use of Mother's Friend, a dependable external remedy obtained of druggists, is absolutely necessary so that to avoid the pains caused by undue tension upon the cords, ligaments and muscles resulting from muscular expansion. Under the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and by applying Mother's Friend all these are soothed and helped. Expansion is natural and pains are relieved. ### Another Quiet Day Along the Border; Raids on the Wane

Brownsville, Sept. 20.—The third successive day without Mexican troubles on this border passed today, bringing hope that these disorders are at last on the wane. General Jacinto Trevino, one of the leading Carranza chiefs, paid Matamoros a visit today on a secret mission. He conferred with United States Consul J. H. Johnson and is believed to have investigated the part which Carranza soldiers are alleged to have played in the recent fighting. After his visit some Carranza authorities said they believed that General E. P. Nafarrate, who has been in command of Carranza forces along this frontier, will be transferred and be succeeded at Matamoros by someone whose name has not been connected even by report with the bandit outbreaks.

Another new and reassuring factor today was an official disclaimer from Matamoros that any Carranza troops were concerned in the battle across the international boundary last Friday when fifteen Mexicans were killed and several wounded. Jose Garza, the Carranza consul here, said the Mexican officials believe the men in this battle were either smugglers or bandits who had crossed into Texas from the Mexican side.

The body of an American found killed near Kingsville today was identified as that of Burt Lyle, a farm hand. Lyle disappeared about two weeks ago. His wounds indicated that he was shot in the head and the breast with a rifle or a pistol.

General Trevino during his inspection today rode to the center of the international bridge, where he made several inquiries of the American army officers who happened to be on the bridge, about the troops on the American side of the river.

Stefansson's Official Report Received at Ottawa, Canada

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—An official report from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, that he had discovered new land in the northern waters of Canada, reached the ministry of naval affairs here today in a message from Nome.

The official report confirms the report made at Nome three days ago that Stefansson had discovered new land.

Stefansson's report briefly describes his journey in the north, announcing the discovery of new land and states that on August 23 he sailed for Herschel Island in the Polar Bear, which he chartered to establish a base on Prince Patrick Island.

From this point he announces he will continue the work of exploring the newly discovered land. Regarding the discovery and his plans, Stefansson wires the Canadian government:

"Landed south end Prince Patrick Island June 1, 1915. Proceeded north, finished mapping west coast Patrick Island."

"June 18, discovered land of considerable but unknown size near 78 degrees north, 117 degrees west. Followed coast south, southeast by east three degrees. Total demonstrable coast over 100 miles nearly straight line. Land in parts rugged. Game is abundant."

"Started south June 22, reached Chronometer Bay of Mercy July 14 to 20, crossed Banks Island diagonally with dog packs. Reached home (the schooner May Sacha, ten miles southeast of Killeit) August 8. No accident of hardship on trip."

Stefansson reports the arrival of the Polar Bear at Killeit August 11. He chartered the boat "as the only chance of attaining needed northerly base to get supplies from Herschel Island and land them at farthest attainable north."

Stefansson's report concludes as follows:

"Will sail from Herschel tomorrow (August 23, 1915) with first adequate outfit."

DEATHS

E. L. Towers Dead.
E. L. Towers, 23 years old, died at a local sanitarium at 11:30 yesterday morning. Mr. Towers was a soldier in the Philippines and contracted dysentery while in the service, that being the cause of his death. The body will be held here until his relatives in Hillsboro and Dallas have made funeral arrangements.

Little Dodson Boy Dies.
Thomas Wesley Dodson, 13 months old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cavitt W. Dodson, 300 Gorman street, died at 10:30 yesterday morning. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence with interment at Oakwood, Rev. C. T. Caldwell officiating.

Infantry to Florida.
Galveston, Sept. 20.—The Twenty-third infantry, thirty-two officers and 825 men, departed this afternoon at 5 o'clock on the United States transport Kilpatrick for Jacksonville, Fla., where they will take part in the national rifle competition matches October 2 to 21. The unit is in command of Captain W. T. Oliver of the Kilpatrick. Eighteen unattached officers and a large number of the wives of officers accompanied the expedition.

The trip will take about five days and the Kilpatrick will proceed to dry dock. The Twenty-third will be returned to Galveston after the match, probably on another transport.

Maytorena Claims Victory.
Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 20.—Governor Maytorena, Villa commander of Sonora, claims to have won a victory over Gen. P. Elias Calles, Carranza chief, in reports received here today by Villa. It was said the Carranza general and his forces were surrounded in the San Antonio mountains two miles south of the international boundary line, near Lochiel, Ariz.

The report added that Calles' army was demoralized and cut off from its base at Agua Prieta.

The Calles camp at Santa Cruz was occupied by Villa forces after the fighting yesterday and 450 dead and 160 wounded were found, while two hundred prisoners were taken, including Lieut. Col. Cardenas, these reports stated.

Five American negroes who were operating machine guns for Calles, were captured and executed. Maytorena also claims to have captured two cannons, sixteen machine guns, several hundred horses and saddles and much ammunition and food.

Calles wired to Agua Prieta last night that there was hard fighting yesterday, but he expected to win today.

We extend you a "Cordial Invitation" to be our guest today and the remaining days of the "Style Show."

Our Fall and Winter Merchandise is on display and we will be pleased to have you inspect each and every department.

Villa's Brother Says Surprise Is Being Planned

El Paso, Sept. 20.—Col. Hipolito Villa, financial agent at Juarez for the Villa forces, declared today that his brother, General Francisco Villa, would spring a series of surprises on the Carranza forces within a week or ten days.

"A plan of operations has been worked out that will completely turn the situation," he said. "The movement of forces northward to the northern part of the state from Torreon is being done merely for the purpose of strengthening garrisons. The present movements of forces in northern Chihuahua have no other significance."

In effect, it is said, General Villa now intends to proceed from Juarez to Guzman, Chihuahua, with his army, march to Sonora in an effort to take Cananea and later Guaymas, and then swing eastward with a junction with Zapata's forces in prospect for an attack upon an objective given variously as Mexico City and Tampico.

British Steamer Sunk.
London, Sept. 20.—Announcement was made tonight that the British steamer Horden had been sunk. The crew was landed.

The Horden was a vessel of 1434 tons. She was built in 1906 and was owned by the Burnett Steamship company of New Castle.

Henry Ford to See Daniels.
Washington, Sept. 20.—Henry Ford of Detroit will see Secretary Daniels of the navy department next Wednesday. It is understood that he wants to talk about a plan he has evolved for a small submarine.

There are in the United States at present something like 20,000,000 persons of school age. A very large proportion of these are now being mobilized for the school-year campaign. The mobilization will not be fully under way until next week; it should be nearly completed by September 15. If the country is going into preparedness with thoroughness, one place to begin is with the school children and the high school and college students. We are not quite ready to agree that military preparedness is the great essential at this time, but we entertain no doubt whatever as to the value of preparedness for good citizenship.—Christian Science Monitor.

RED SOX FURTHER INCREASE THEIR LEAD

PITTSBURG TRIMS THE BROOKLYN SUPERBAS

AMERICAN LEAGUE LEADERS AGAIN TURN BACK THE DETROIT TIGERS.

107,423 SEE THE SERIES

Believed a New Record is Set for Any But World Championship Games.

Boston, Sept. 20.—Turning the Detroit Tigers back for the third time today 3 to 2, the Boston Red Sox went into a lead of more than four games in the American league race. Detroit's pennant prospects were thus dimmed before a crowd which brought the total paid attendance for the four-game series to 107,423, believed to be a record for any but world-title contests. Vice President Thomas R. Marshall was among the spectators.

Detroit was an aggressive game. The Tigers got men on bases either on passes or hits and forced them along by might of bat or bursts of speed but except in the first inning found Boston's fielders barriers to progress beyond third base.

In the opening inning Ruth passed the first man and hit the next and with Cobb's sacrifice and Veatch's single the Tigers scored their only runs. They filed the bases in the eighth, Ruth developed another wild spell which forced his retirement, but Foster struck out Baker and the side was out.

At other times during the game it was Hooper's bullet-like throws, Barry's handling of hard-driven grounders or catches by Speaker that stopped Detroit runners.

After gaining a run in the first inning, Boston went scoreless against Daus until the sixth. Then a pass to Speaker turned into a run when Lewis drive bounced off Ruth's shin into right field for a triple. When Lewis came into the plate on Gardner's infield out he was called safe, although he had effectually blocked him from the plate.

The Tigers drew first blood. Two runs were scored in the opening inning as a result of Ruth's wildness. He passed Bush and hit Vitti. Cobb sacrificed and Veatch singled smartly to left, sending in the two tallies. Ruth recovered control and struck out the slugger, Sam Crawford. Burns then popped up for the third out.

Daus passed Hooper, the first man up and he went around for a poor recovery.

Fielding features almost as remarkable as those of Saturday were developed again today. A lightning throw by Hooper, which sped from right field directly to Gardner's hands, caught Cobb at third base in the third inning. Cobb, who had singled, had attempted to reach third on Veatch's hit to right.

In Boston's half of the same inning, Bush, Young and Burns killed off Hooper, who had hit safely, and Scott, on a rapid double play.

Again in the fifth Hooper's head and arm proved deadly. He struck out Scott at first base on Hooper's quick and accurate return from the Detroit pitcher's single.

Boston made a bid for the tying score in this inning. After Carrigan had walked with one out, Ruth scratched a hit. Jimmy Ryan for Carrigan, but was forced at third, and Henriksen, who pinch hit for Scott, was thrown out at first. Thomas went to catch and Janviri to shortstop for Boston.

Boston went ahead with two runs in the sixth. Speaker, made a field of fire by a pass, raced around on Lewis' triple to right field. The ball bounded off the shins of Burns. A moment later he scored on Gardner's infield error. Catcher Stange's insistence that he had blocked Lewis off at the plate was so strenuous that Umpire O'Loughlin cut him off the field. Baker took his place.

Detroit pushed Young to third and Bush to second base in the seventh on the former's pass. Bush's hit and Speaker's fumble of it, and Bush's steal. But with two out Ruth fanned Vitti and the Tigers took the field, protesting.

Detroit filled the bases with two out in the eighth, due to passes and an error by Gardner, and Foster supplanted Ruth in the box. He sent Baker back for the third out on strikes.

Cincinnati 4, Boston 1.
 Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—Toney's masterly pitching enabled Cincinnati to win from Boston. In the second inning Connolly doubled, and after Maranville had been retired, Gowdy was intentionally passed and Hughes singled, Connolly trying for the plate. Killifer's throw was good, but Clarke dropped the ball and Connolly scored.

Hughes pitched fair ball with the exception of the third inning, when he hit Grot, who stole second and scored on Griffith's double. The latter scored on Griffith's single. Barnes, who relieved Hughes in the eighth, was hit for a triple by Killifer, who scored when Evers fumbled Herzog's drive. Herzog stole second and third and scored on Griffith's infield out.

HI FOOTBALL MEN ARE OUT FOR PRACTICE

TWENTY-FIVE MEN REPORT FOR FIRST DAY'S WORK OUT.

Indications Are That Eleven Will Be Heavier and Faster Than 1914.

First actual practice for the Waco High School football material was held yesterday afternoon on the school campus. Catch P. L. Tyson divided the big squad into two groups and had them run through signal practice. Most of the men are in good physical condition, having worked out for two or three weeks at Baylor and several days before school opened.

The men also were put through a stiff practice at handling forward passes. P. L. Tyson said yesterday: "I can truthfully say that it will be the biggest kind of a job to pick the first team this year. We have the most promising material we have ever had. The physical condition of some of the new boys are coming out this year will make last year's regulars look like a bunch of boys."

More new men are expected to report. Captain Greer also is pleased with the prospects. Greer is a lineman, who has done great work for the white and gold and has the confidence of all the men. He is a senior and was a letterman in the National League club standing for a first division berth. The fight is still a four-cornered affair, however, Pittsburg being only three points behind the two clubs and Chicago but two points behind Pittsburg.

World Series Now Is Conceded to the Bostons and Phillies

New York, Sept. 20.—Unless either or both teams now leading the two major leagues experience a decided slump in the last few days of the campaign, it seemed very probable tonight that the world's series this year would be played between the Boston Americans and the Philadelphia Nationals, thus reversing the program of last year when the Boston Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans decided the world's baseball championship.

The Boston Americans by winning from the Detroit Tigers again today, took three out of the four games of the series and now are four one-half games ahead and the only hope of the lower clubs being able to play while the Tigers have twelve.

Although the comfortable lead Carrigan's men now have they can afford to lose five of the sixteen games and still win the pennant even should the Tigers win all the rest of their twelve games. Both will play comparatively weak teams for the remainder of the season. Cleveland abandons the race among the lower clubs and the only hope of the Braves and Superbas is that they will be able to prevent the Phillies from increasing their margin until the race makers come out to play a four-game series with Boston and Brooklyn.

Cincinnati, principally through the brilliant work of Pitcher Toney, who now brags the opportunity to gain on the leaders. The Phillies are now five games ahead and the only hope of the lower clubs being able to play while the Tigers have twelve.

WACO WANTS ROTARY CONFERENCE MEET HERE IN OCTOBER

Waco is a candidate for the conference of Rotary Clubs of the Texas district which will be held some time during the latter part of October, at a date to suit the convenience of International President Allen D. Albert of Minneapolis, who will be the star attraction of the conference. President Albert is to make a tour of all the various districts into which the Rotary organization of America has been divided and his visit will be arranged for on an elaborate scale everywhere he goes.

W. H. Richardson of Austin, president of the Texas district, which includes, also, the club at Shreveport, favors Waco as the meeting place for the conference in this district and the Dallas Rotary Club also would like to see the conference held here. In order that the campaign to bring the conference here may be carried on in earnest the local Rotary Club yesterday at noon authorized President Nettles to name a campaign committee, the motion making the president an ex-officio. On this committee Mr. Nettles named J. M. Penland, J. Lee Davis, Louis McCulloch and E. F. Drake, Mr. Penland being the author of the motion.

New members elected at yesterday's meeting included Dr. C. P. Schneck, eye, ear and nose specialist; Luke Moore, Jr., silos, and J. M. Cornetti, cotton seed products.

Due to a business engagement, A. A. Davis, speaker for yesterday's meeting at the State House, was unable to deliver his address but sent a written petition asking that he be allowed to deliver it next Monday. His request was granted on the condition that he complete the Rotarians with a case of confectio.

Dr. H. F. Connolly was toastmaster yesterday and announced that Dr. Carl Lovelace would be the speaker next Monday with W. J. Neale as the regular orator.

Ex-President J. M. Penland had Secretary Cox to read a letter of thanks from C. C. Penn of New York for the numerous nice letters received from Waco Rotarians regarding the safety razors which he recently gave away here through Mr. Penland.

BART MOORE SETS PACE FOR DEMOCRATS

WACOAN COMPLETES GOVERN-MENT ASSIGNMENT ON HALF TIME.

RETURNS TO HIS HOME HERE

Had Rather Pick Cotton at 25 Cents
Per Bale Than Remain Away
Permanently, He Declares.

Bart Moore, Sr., Wacoan picked by Indian Commissioner Sells and President Wilson to classify and appraise big tracts of valuable Indian lands in the states of Washington and North Dakota, returned to Waco yesterday afternoon with his family after having completed the task assigned him in one-half the time allotted and with an efficiency and economy in keeping with the platform declarations of the democratic party.

Mr. Moore liked his job but he did not like it well enough to cling to it as a sinecure after he had completed the work that he was assigned to do, and though he received a handsome salary he cared more for establishing a record for democratic economy and efficiency than he did for the salary. He has received the cordial commendation of his chiefs for the work that he performed.

Arriving yesterday afternoon, just eighteen months after he left this city, he had completed within that time a job for which the government allowed three years, finished another job which four months was allowed, and then enjoyed an extensive vacation and outing by way of trips through Canada, a visit to old friends at Seattle, a stop over at the Panama-Pacific exposition and a leisurely return from San Francisco to Waco by way of Salt Lake City and Denver. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Moore and their little daughter, Jane Dodd.

His Work in Washington.

The first task to which Mr. Moore was assigned was that one to which he was called in Washington by Indian Commissioner C. S. Sells. He was named chairman of a commission to classify and appraise the Indian lands of that state, consisting of more than 1,000,000 acres, which are being prepared for opening up to actual settlers. Under the law regulating these lands, none of them can be sold for less than the appraised value, and Mr. Moore and his associates measured the big tracts of more than 1,000,000 acres off in plats of forty acres each and placed a valuation upon each plat and the timber that grew upon each.

More than 700,000 acres of the land is heavily timbered and in addition to estimating the value of this timber they had to estimate the amount of timber upon each plat of forty acres. Mr. Moore had under him a group of assistants whose monthly payroll ran to nearly $7,000 a month and his economy and dispatch in completing the work in half the time allotted by the law brought about a great saving to the government.

Mr. Moore's record in the state of Washington under Commissioner Sells called President Wilson to choose Mr. Moore for the task of classifying and appraising 120,000 acres of valuable prairie land in North Dakota. This is such an intense prairie land that Mr. Moore and his party had to haul wood with which to cook their meals a distance of fifteen miles while they camped at Elbow Woods, which is evidently a misnomer. The country has some valuable lignite deposits but wheat growing is the great industry there and this year the wheat yield has been great. "But I had rather pick cotton down here at 25 cents a bale than grow wheat in North Dakota at $1.25 per bushel," Mr. Moore declared, as an evidence of his delight to be back in Waco where he has spent his life, and I am going to remain here in the future if the people will let me."

Watched Work With the Boys.

It will be recalled that Mr. Moore is greatly interested in working boys, being a member of the board of directors of the Working Boys' Club, and during his absence he had an opportunity to look into what is being done for the news, messenger and other working boys in Washington, New York, Chicago, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and other points that he visited. While he was in Washington on his survey work a detachment of Boy Scouts from one of the towns of that state paid him a visit, hiking a distance of forty miles each way to do so. He will tell the local Working Boys' Club something about what he observed other cities doing for their boys at the regular meeting of the club Thursday night of this week.

One of the novel experiences enjoyed by Mr. Moore, shortly before leaving for home, was that of climbing snow-capped mountains in North Dakota. In Washington he was in sight of snow-capped mountains the year round. On his return he took a trip through Canada on the Canadian Pacific railway and saw some of the most picturesque scenery, he said, which this or any other country affords.

Former Wacoan Seattle Postmaster. In Seattle was his pleasure to visit Edgar Battle, former Wacoan and now postmaster of Seattle, one of the choicest postoffice plums in the country. The postmaster is a close friend of Mr. Moore, as is his brother, Judge Alfred Battle, also a former Wacoan and one of the wealthiest and most influential men of Seattle. Mr. Moore's stay of ten days with these former friends was one of the most pleasant features of his entire trip. In fact, he had some part in landing the post-office for Mr. Battle, due to his close acquaintance with some of the administration's leaders.

IN WOMAN'S SPHERE.

By Kate Friend.

Sounds good, even though a model of two score years gone by.

Following their summer absence which has included both Colorado and California, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Goldstein are today arriving in El Paso. After a visit with their son, Abe Goldstein, passage will be taken for home. Mr. and Mrs. Goldstein are expected here the second of October.

The coming of Miss Elizabeth Webster from Texarkana as Cotton Palace duchess is a return visit of the popular guest of Miss Frances Hays in the spring.

The Kennel Club meets Wednesday night to arrange for the dog show during the Cotton Palace. This means the women will respond to the call for assistance, and yet another element of Waco women rallied to the success of the Cotton Palace.

We will have to begin conjuring our wishes for the circus is headed this way.

We see Berry Wall, the arbiter of men's fashions, says some men know no more about the correctness of attire than to put on an aviator's suit to take a ride in the subway. "Berry" should now take a shot at some of the women, for they are just as careless over appropriateness in dress; what is more, some of them are right here in Waco. Suppose we invite Berry to come down for Woman's Day at the Cotton Palace.

After matronizing the Gay residence during the summer, Temple Mordecai Stone is again in her West Columbus street cottage.

Those who were so interested in Dr. Stockton Axson's address on Robert Louis Stevenson will be further interested to hear of the recent movement which will result in a monument placed to his memory by citizens of Stevenson's old home near Saratoga, Lake, in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. E. H. Harvey, formerly Miss Lulline Mosely, has come from Philadelphia, to be matron of honor for Miss Lucile Hill. She is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mosely, West Washington street.

Miss Marian Duncan entertains on next Friday in compliment to Miss Lucile Hill. This courtesy will take the form of a bridge luncheon.

Mrs. Ernest Groos has promised her mother, Mrs. D. C. Bolinger, and girlhood friends, a Cotton Palace visit from San Antonio. It is daily, nay, daily daily, that we are now hearing of visitors in prospect for our Palace season.

In returning from her summer outing, Mrs. F. M. Thwing brings pleasing message from Mrs. Temple Mordecai Stone, this being her lingering interest in the friends of her former home. Mrs. Morrow's health failed completely after a sojourn in New Mexico, which restored her completely. Future plans for residence are indefinite now.

During the first of her winter visit from California, Mrs. Frank Diefendorf, Mrs. Lars Ockander, North Fifth street.

The past few days has found Miss Salliburn a member of the W. S. C. at the hotel, North Twelfth street, for the winter.

Society Personals

Miss Maud Brown of North Twelfth street is at home from a week-end visit with Miss Kate O'Neal in Burlington.

Among the departures of today will be that of Mrs. Perle Evans Barber for her home in Houston. She has spent a few days with Miss Marie Anderson, Fourteenth and Columbia.

After a few days in Bartlett, Mrs. J. M. Witt and Miss Mabel Witt of North Twelfth street are at home.

Mrs. John Wright of West Barnard is in Dallas on business. Mrs. Wright is with Mrs. L. Harrison, the recent visitor to Miss Ella Flewellyn, Provident Heights, is again at home in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Trice of Barnard street left with her daughter, Mrs. Hattie Trice Beers, for an early season visit in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cisco of North Fourth street left on Monday for a week-end visit which will extend as far as Kansas City.

Miss Ben Evelyn McKie of Sanger avenue is at home from summer touring in New England.

Mrs. Sol Hirschberg with the Misses Hirschberg, of Austin avenue, reach home from the east today.

Mrs. Edward Silvers, who has spent

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight

Good Advice for Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs, who, having tried advertised food-makers, food-facts, physical culture, stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long thinness and think nothing more of them. As a nerve case is not hopeless. A recently discovered combination of assimilative agents has made fat grow after years of thinness, and it is also unequalled in judging from reports, for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion, and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable preparation is called Sargol. Six active elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this preparation, which is endorsed and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A few weeks systematic use of Sargol should go far to produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying nourishing fats to the blood. If not, every druggist who sells it is authorized to return the purchase price increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are thus provided. Powers-Kelly Drug Co. and other leading druggists supply Sargol, and there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has from reports given excellent results, it is not recommended to nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

TALENTS

NICKEL TODAY.

Francis X. Bushman in "One Wonderful Night."

It all happened in one wonderful night. The lives of a girl and a man were completely changed and made more happy than ever before. Francis X. Bushman was the man. Beverly Bayne was the girl. Bryant Washburn and Lillian Drew also star in this picture. The photo-play of four of the most intense acts ever screened with this all star cast, each one of which is heading their own company today. The number of scenes and amount of dramatic action contained in "One Wonderful Night" which was screened something like a year ago, one rarely sees in the larger drawn out picture plays of today, when many producers get paid by the amount of feet turned out. Patrons of the Nickel today will see the beginning of this photoplay at half past four hour commencing at 9:30 this morning.

HIPPODROME.

"Mortmain."

It may be difficult to give a correct impression of "Mortmain," new five-reel Vitaphone Blue Ribbon feature, which is the offering at the Hippodrome where it appears again today and Wednesday. In its particular sphere, that of mystery drama with a scientific background, it comes pretty close to being a model of motion picture craftsmanship. Theodore Marston directed the picture from an adaptation of a story by Arthur Train, and Robert Edeson acted the title role so exceedingly well that it seems safe to call it his best screen performance, without inviting contradiction. But the photoplay is so good in its entirety, such a thorough work of art, that there is no need to place emphasis on the contribution of any particular player.

"Mortmain" is like a story that one picks up indifferently, scans casually for a few paragraphs and then reads with active interest to the end. Before the first reel has been run there is enough to arouse hope of something exceptional and the hope is justified in a picture that is original, safe to call it his best screen performance, without inviting contradiction. But the photoplay is so good in its entirety, such a thorough work of art, that there is no need to place emphasis on the contribution of any particular player.

The basis for the strange experience of Mortmain is established at a clinic where it is shown that modern surgery makes possible the grafting of the limb of one animal onto the body of another. A cat with a paw seemingly grafted into place is used for illustration. Then step by step we are led into an engrossing story, too involved for a brief summary, but presented so clearly and logically that there is no excuse for an audience missing any of the points. The significance of the surgical operation with which the picture opens is readily appreciated when Mortmain's left hand is crushed under a falling piece of furniture. He is told that the hand must be amputated and that $10,000 will buy the hand of another man. As Mortmain loses consciousness under an anesthetic, the screen shows fleeting visions of faces as they appear in his mind, a novel idea handled with marked success.

And the hand grafted onto Mortmain's arm belonged to his sweet-heart's brother, who died under the operation. Had Poe or DeMaupassant written scenarios they would not have been as named of a plot with such haunting possibilities. How typical of Poe is the pleasant fancy of a lover placing the alien fingers on his fiancée's arm, not knowing their origin, and wondering why she instinctively recoils from his touch. By ghostly light effects in atmospheric settings and expressive acting that conveys the meaning without spoiling the illusion by disclosing too much, the hidden horror of "Peer Gynt" is revealed but cannot explain is worked up with consummate skill. And then we are told that it was all a dream.

AT THE QUEEN.

Cyril Maude in "Peer Gynt." Today.

When a capricious Gubrandale bride refuses to come out to be married, the rollicking "Peer Gynt" pretends to lend a hand, but once he has teased the girl out of the cabin he claps the bride-room in, and locking the door on the howling swain, spirits the no, unwilling girl away to a cave in the mountains. Banished from the North Woods invades him out of a world-wide wandering, and his susceptibility to beautiful women plunges him into thrilling experiences with beauties typical of every land and clime. But one after another they reveal selfish ends, and work to his undoing. He loses his sailing ship and narrowly escapes from his beautiful Annel Lee turns out to be an agent of the secret service on his trail for slaying. By mere luck he emerges unscathed from the duel he is dragged into by an aristocratic little flirt of Old Virginia. An Indian girl in the North Woods invades him out of his precious pelt of silver fox and then deserts him, and his escape from lurking redskins is by such a hair that a rifle bullet knocks the very paddle out of his hands. Years pass, but do not bring him any better women, and he falls victim to the voluptuous charm of Onitra, a soulless dancing girl of the desert, only to have her strip him of the very gems in his torban and the rings upon his fingers. Age finds him an embittered cynical old man, and "Peer Gynt" drifts back to Gubrandale to die, but he finds waiting there the faithful sweetheart of his wild youth, the pure, gentle Solveig—as lovely a character as man ever left weeping behind him. So when the Button Moulder, personifying the Saver of Souls, comes to cast Peer back into the Melting Pot to be moulded over because his wasted life proves him without design, it is Solveig's devotion which saves him. The good in him has lived after all in her faith, in her hope and in her love. A pity more of us can not get back to Gubrandale.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present. Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in the side, headaches and nervousness, which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which irritates the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

ALL DOG FANCIERS URGED TO ATTEND KENNEL CLUB MEET

Importance of a full attendance of members at the annual meeting of the Waco Kennel Club, which will be held tomorrow night is being urged by W. A. Holt, president of the club. Dog fanciers and all owners of good dogs in the city are especially urged to attend.

"The importance of a good attendance cannot be over stressed," said Mr. Holt yesterday. "Our charter from the American Kennel Club requires an annual meeting, and that a quorum be present at the meeting, in order to hold our affiliation. The American Kennel Club is the strictest organization of its kind in the country. Its regulations make it entirely impossible for one or two men or a group of men to carry on the affairs of the club and conduct a dog show. The whole club must be behind the show, and must attend the meetings."

"Owners of fine dogs from outside points will not send their dogs to the Waco show unless there are a large number of dogs entered. For this reason we are making every endeavor to get Waco dog owners to enter their animals. The number of dogs entered in the class makes a great difference in the rating given the winner for entrance in the national dog show. If there are 100 dogs in the class, the winner receives one point as a rating to be considered by the national show. If 200 dogs, two points, and so on. Owners of fine dogs outside of Waco who have ambitions to make champions of their dogs will not ship them a distance to enter them in a one-point show."

There is really more importance in quantity than quality of entrants. "We will be very glad if every member of the club will attend the meeting Wednesday night. We especially invite the ladies of the city to attend. The society aspects of the show at the Cotton Palace this fall is capable of much development and we are depending on the women of Waco to make the Waco show what other shows are to other cities."

Warsaw and Riga.

Riga has become during the last twenty years one of the chief manufacturing towns in Russia and may be a more important center for the manufacture of munitions than Warsaw. Besides all this, Riga has two of the largest wagon factories in Russia and a well-known rubber works. Various other factories produce boots, linen and cloth. Altogether, Riga has about 200 factories, employing 30,000 hands. Warsaw has two very large textile mills. The chief manufacturing towns of Poland are already in German hands, Lodz being the most important for textiles. From a revenue standpoint, Poland and the Baltic provinces are rather important to Russia. If they are successful now, the Germans may try to draw a straight line from Riga to Lemberg and then stop their advance. Riga and Warsaw would probably have to pay heavy contributions of money and material. There is not much corn, but plenty of timber and flax—a raw material that is used for aeroplane wings and airship covers. Silesian flax is very much inferior in quality to Riga flax.

British interests are strongly represented in Riga and the surrounding districts—more so than in Poland, where German capital is predominantly employed. The Baltic provinces are highly cultivated, especially for flax, though they will doubtless have suffered since mobilization and the occupation of the Russian armies. The distance from Riga to Petrograd is about 350 miles, and a triumphant German army might try to penetrate far beyond Riga—London Economist.

WAR SCARE NEARLY OVER EVERYWHERE SAYS ASHER SANGER

The business barometer of the north and east is on the rise, according to Asher Sanger, president of the Cotton Palace Association, and member of the firm of Sanger Bros., who returned yesterday afternoon from a month's business and pleasure stay in New York and other eastern cities. Business men of the metropolis are optimistic, says Mr. Sanger, who expects complete freedom from any depression caused by the war to come within the next few months.

"Developments in Cotton Palace plans during my absence only bear out my conviction that we will have the greatest show in the south this year," was Mr. Sanger's comment on the Cotton Palace. "Everything is in good shape, with all plans well advanced. I am glad to get back and take up the Cotton Palace work again," he concluded.

During the absence of Mr. Sanger, John F. Wright, vice president, was acting president of the exposition.

The President's Scotch Story.

President Wilson, speaking once in Brooklyn, illustrated a point with an anecdote of two Scotchmen. One was a marketman, the other a purchaser who came with his dog to the market to buy a fish. Sandy's dog, nosing about in the baskets, came upon a catch of live lobsters. Soon one of the lobsters had a hold on the dog's tail and Sandy and the marketman watched the two disappear together down the street toward home. "Sandy," cried the marketman, "Whistle to your dog, mon! Whistle!"

"Nay, nay," answered Sandy comfortably. "T! not. You whistle to your lobster."

Fish Destroy Mosquitoes.

The United States bureau of fisheries has recently issued (Economic Circular No. 17) a brief report on the fishes destructive to the eggs and larvae of mosquitoes. This enumerates and illustrates by cuts the fishes occurring east of the Rocky mountains which are known to destroy mosquitoes in their natural environment and are therefore valuable in mosquito extermination. The circular contains useful information respecting the methods of collecting and transporting these fishes, the character of the waters they inhabit, and lists of those which occur in different parts of the country. Copies may be obtained upon application to the bureau of fisheries, Washington, D. C.

Suit Against Dallas Dismissed.

Dallas, Sept. 20.—Suit for debt against the city of Dallas filed by the county of Dallas thirteen years ago was dismissed today by order of the county commissioners. The suit was for the city's share of the 1900 campaign against the smallpox epidemic. The amount sued for was $2000.

What Milady Will Wear This Fall; Dame Fashion's Decrees Shown in Waco's Style Show This Week

The plainly modeled American tailored suit will be the choice of the conservative dresser.

Dark colors, principally blues, greens and browns, of which there is a large range, will be worn almost exclusively. The new smart suits in dark checks will be popular.

Coats will be mostly flaring at the bottom. Skirts will have fullness at the hips, and will be radically shorter than heretofore.

Fur and silk braid for trimming suits predominate. Silk net is used almost exclusively, in combination with soft shades of velvet for the new evening gowns. Artificial flowers and cut steel furnish some effective decorations.

Hats of panne velvet are in vogue. Shapes are varied, with no prevailing style. Trimmings have a riotous range—steel buckles, gourd, ostrich, paradise, flowers, numidi, wings and hand embroidery in beads, zephyrs and silks.

The most noticeable feature in footwear is the seven and one-half inch boot. Both button and lace shoes will be worn, with the button style receiving the preference.

High riffs with many frills will be used for the neck. Collars will be almost as large as the hat.

Still more furs will be worn this winter. The neckpiece will be cape-like in design, and the muffs the new barrel shape.

Much embroidery will be used on the hose. There are many striking effects in embroidered pannies, butterflies and panel stripes.

The natural figure will be the most stylish. Corsets will fit snugly and will have high busts.

Artful carelessness is the motif in Milady's coiffure. It is passe to look as though one had just come from the hair-dresser.

One of the smartest of the new gloves is a gunmetal kid with eight star-points of white kid at the wrist and finished with a piping of white kid.

Devotees of harmony will be perhaps disappointed to know that fashion this fall decrees no need for different details of the costume to conform to a scheme of unity.

Freedom is the predominant idea in the new styles for women which will be displayed this week by the merchants of Waco participating in the Style Show. The display of styles also marks the emancipation of the American woman from the harsh mandates imposed upon her from across the water. The American woman, who has the comfort and satisfaction of the millions of new patrons added to his clientele by the desolation of Paris, has designed styles that are pleasant, and at the same time mark the longest step toward absolute sanity that fashions have taken in many a day. Waco women will have only themselves to blame if they do not take advantage of the opportunity that is being offered by Waco merchants during the Style Show this week.

The very American idea of variety is also to the fore in the new styles. There is no line of treatment that is predominant, therefore the greatest variety may be expected, and the greatest variety is being shown by Waco merchants.

Perhaps the only influence of the European war on women's styles this fall is the sobering effect it has had on colors. With half the world in mourning and the other half anxiously sympathetic, there is little wonder that bright colors in dress are few. Blues and browns, in a multitude of entrancing shades and combinations, will be much worn. Checks, when in dark shades, will also be very popular for suits.

Craze for Eccentricities.

The craze for eccentricities of dress suggesting picturesque costumes of the nations a war has passed, with the passing of the excitement and the thrill of romance that followed the outbreak of hostilities, and with the coming of the more sober realization of the terribleness of it all. Thus women's wear this fall will suggest the military uniform of Russian, French or Italian uniforms only in a general way. Coats will be as simple as those adopted for the use of the armies of a neutral hue that will make them invisible at a distance.

The predominance of the American-designed styles is a measure of the triumph of the nation, could not be expected to maintain its place as the arbiter of the fashions of the world. The aptitude of American designers in taking up the work of furnishing styles to the millions of women in this country is a great source of satisfaction to those who wish to see America independent of the world in matters of dress.

Coats are from medium to long. The very long ones reach nearly to the skirt edge and can be worn as separate coats. The manufacturers are directing their efforts principally to suit coats that measure from twenty-eight to thirty-four inches.

A predominance exists for dark colors, navy, dark blue, dark green, garnet and purples are shown. Broad cloth and peau de source will be seen to a great extent. Plain materials will take the lead, though for utility suits, checks, and two-colored combination suits will again be used. Velvet redingotes will be worn with cloth and satin skirts. Soft chiffon velvets, panne velvets and novelty velvets made in the newness of old styles often have touches of embroidery in contrasting colors effectively employed on collar and cuffs.

New Colors Lovely.

Some of the new colors lovely for evening wear are porcelain blue and a deep orchid shade. Velvets or any of the wintry materials, such as brocades and heavier silk have replaced some of the lighter materials. Modernized peasant costumes showing corseges laced in the front accompanied by a little lace apron, over double silk net skirt, are indescribably pretty. Instead of bare arms and shoulders, the upper portions of the waists are veiled with tulle.

Some exquisite transparent evening gowns are beaded wonderfully. Full circular tulle skirts embroidered in iridescent beads flash out gaily around the bottom. The dancing dresses are fourteen inches from the ground and are extremely sheer, some being made mostly of net over thinest material. Transparent blues and high standing the most extreme decollete evening dress.

Georgette crepe, chiffons, laces, nets, marquisettes and crepes are included in the materials for waists.

Waists matching suit colors are made in the form of a dress bodice. White lace waists worn over the skirt, or in smock effect, are used as a compromise between the plain and very dressy waists. Hemstitching and draw work is noted on the soft silk blouses.

Popular Neckwear.

The most popular neckwear this season is shown in Georgette crepe. Daintiness and fragility added to durability make the new collars a necessity. Pure white, black and tones of beige, flesh and ecru are used.

Knickerbockers of crepe are to be worn with the evening gowns, but leading designers say that tights soon will have the preference.

The general fashion trend is toward the round, draped or elongated turban. The flat trimmed sailor with variations of brim and crown portray a wide range of new ideas. The newest of these have the brim unstiffened, causing it to droop in undulating lines. Chinese and Spanish sailor hats are very attractive this season.

Very popular are the dancing hats in colors of pink, silver and gold with a simple but rich decoration.

A new and novel idea on some of the hats is to have the brim draped with veiling, the fullness of which is drawn together on one side and caught by a beaded ornament by velvet rose with buds.

Stylish Hats.

Blue serge hats have begun to appear. Shorn of trimming save a braid ornament and bound braid, this hat is extremely smart.

A made veil with an elastic top which helps it fit trimly around the hat is used by women of fashion. Chenille is generally becoming and comes in great assortment of styles.

Bold patterns are used on the best veils. Black, flesh, sand, taupe, navy and white veils are the colors most used.

A new combination mesh, black embroidered all about with silk hosiery braid and tiny black velvet flowers and leaves, makes a coquettish screen for milady.

Some attractive hexagonal mesh veils with dots spaced far apart come in black with finished edges.

Vivid green satin slippers are a whim of the moment to wear with black or white frocks. High gold and silver brocaded shoes laced up the back or fastened with snappers help to complete the effect of many a gorgeous gown.

The Handsome Window Displays

At the Sanger Store Last Night Presented but a Forerunner of a Still Prettier Display that Is to Follow on Friday and Saturday

Gorgeous, Charming, Exquisite and countless other exclamations characterized the comments of the Fashion admirers of Waco as they viewed the window displays at the Sanger Store, and we are justly proud of the display and delighted that the result of the weeks of effort put forth by our buyers and our decorating department in this opening display have met with public approval. But last night's presentation was but a forerunner of the Brilliant Exhibition that is to follow.

On Thursday the Curtains Will Again Be Drawn to Make Ready for the Grand Feature Days of the Style Show, Friday and Saturday

On these two days and nights the Sanger Store will utilize Expert Living Models in presenting the richest and rarest creations of the most noted designers. New displays will be made in the show windows and the especially prepared Promenade Room will be opened. In this spacious room chairs will be arranged so that you may view at your leisure the beautiful Millinery, Gowns, Suits, Dresses, Costumes and Dress accessories as they are presented by EXPERT LIVING MODELS.

Our Dressmaking Department Is Executing Fall Orders

Visit our Dressmaking Department on the third floor and talk over the new Fall styles with Mrs. Copeland. She will gladly assist you in the selection of materials, trimmings, etc., for the new gown or dress, if you so desire.

Our Ladies' Tailoring Department Is at Your Service

Mr. Preves, who is recognized as one of the best Ladies' Tailors in the entire South, is in charge of the Sanger Store's Ladies' Tailoring department, and he will gladly assist you in the selection of the style, material, etc., for your new Fall Suit and Separate Skirt. The latest fashion plates are here for your inspection, or, if you prefer, Mr. Preves will design your new Suit or Skirt to meet your individual ideas.

Resinol Soap

clears bad complexions

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

When the skin is in a very neglected condition, with pimples, blackheads, redness or roughness, spread on just a little Resinol Ointment for ten or fifteen minutes before using Resinol Soap.

Resinol Soap is not artificially colored, its rich brown being entirely due to the Resinol medication it contains. Twenty-five cents at all druggists and dealers in toilet goods. For a trial size cake, write to Dept. 4-F, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

If Lonesome Ring Advice of Picture

The Little Picture in our show window, Ring Twice If Lonesome, is one of the prettiest illustrations we have ever seen. Some months ago a very prominent young man of this city acted on the advice of this picture and pressed the button, which closed the circuit and he rang once.

J. Levinski supplied the ring. A very handsome solitaire diamond. As one ring did not cure his loneliness he followed the advice of this picture and rang again. The second ring called for one of Levinski's wedding rings.

This ring has the guaranteed charm to banish all loneliness and of filling his future full of life and happiness.

If you are interested call on us and we will give you the name of the young man and if lonesome you may ring twice.—Adv.
